A TRIAL JUSTICE WHO CANNOT EM-FORCE THE LAW.

MR. EDITOR: I live near a very respectable village, whose inhabitants being long accustomed to sending their cows to graze. in the surrounding old fields, have been generally somewhat displeased with the new law about fencing in the cattle, and accordingly have not yet confined them.
And I am credibly informed that the resident Trial Justice is saying that he has never received official information of the passage of the law, and therefore cannot enforce it. Meanwhile, the freedmen are suffering their miserable starvelings to wander through the woods, and they have begun to find We learn that Prof. W. H. Evans will their way into my outs and wheat. The state can he lawfully refuse to execute any law made in due form, and announced an such in the papers, unless he gets official information of its passage? This is a very grave question for us poor farmers who live near said village. You are a lawyer as well as an editor. Please executed at latter and obligation.

Mr. Epiron: Can you not prevail upon the good ladies who managed the play-"The Last Leaf"-last week, of which we have heard so much since, to re-act the

Prejudice often rules in the physical treat-

"QUILTY OR HOT QUILTY."

MR. EDITOR: To criticise the actions of public men may seem very improper for a countryman farmer to undertake; but when we see men in 'high places," placed there by the vote of their constituents, wasting their time in doing nothing, or worse than nothing, to the tune of five dollars per day, as some of our honored Representatives have done, seems to "cry aloud" for condemnation from their constituents, who put them there expecting them to do their whole duty, and nothing more.

If we mistake not, during the campaign of 1876, the nominees for the various offices pledged themselves to the Democratic party -to the people throughout the country-to make the most strenuous efforts to bring about reform and economy in State and County government. We believed them. And now at the close of the first regular session of the Legislature we ask, how does their legislative record compare with the pledges given during that eventful cam-paign?

Their first act of economy (if we remember aright) was to reduce the salaries of various county officials to what we consider approximating economy. But, alas! just here their love of economy and sympathy for a poor, tax-ridden people succumbed to love of self, as much as to say that it is "our bounden duty to curtail county expenses by this reduction, but we as Legislators cannot work that cheap. County officers can stay at home and attend to their several offices, but we, the law-makers, must leave home for the Capitol. We are expected to clothe ourselves in purple and fare sumptuously every day," therefore must have five dollars per day.

Now, I want to ask somebody, and none but the guilty need answer: Is there any genuine Democracy in such doings? Does it take five dollars per day to pay the actual expenses of a modern Legislator in South Carolina? Why cannot it be as it was in the good old aute-war times, when men sought office for the honors of the office, and from a desire to benefit their country, and not to speculate off her. If it does require five dollars per day to pay a mem-ber's expenses, with good board at $1.50 per day, somebody makes money, if not, somebody else makes money, at whose expense I'll leave my readers to guess. Now, there is another thing that some of us country people can't understand, and want "more light" on the subject. If we are in error, we are ready to ask pardon. We are told that our legislators receive mileage ten cents per mile, while the railroad companies charge only five cents. So we see there is five cents clear cash made every mile traveled. But suppose they have free passes over the roads, which I learn is true in nearly every case? It may be none of our business as to them accepting free passe over the roads, yet we can't see how a true Representative can conscientiously accept a free pass from a railroad company, and also accept ten cents mileage out of the State's funds 'or the same ride. We do not ask what the railroad companies receive or expect to receive for and in consideration of such favors granted. We do not accuse any one of buying or selling, only we just can't see through it. When we country people hire a person to labor, or hire ourselves to labor for some one else, we endeavor to give value received. If we acted otherwise the employer or employee would be loser. If we engage ourselves to some one at one dollar or five dollars per day, we would not -we could not, as honest men-charge for twenty or twenty-five days more than we actually labored. We do not accuse any one of doing such a thing, only we thought some person might try it. We think anybody that would act thus, ought to be advised to go North for his health, or stay at home and "mind the base."

You see, Mr. Editor, that there are a great many things done at the Capital that we country people can't see into or understand. But perhaps we need to whet our understanding against the pride of the State—the South Carolina University.

Of the passage of the University bill, and those, who supported it, we will say nothing. Perhaps it is right for the laboring class of any her fit to us. Of onething we are certain: if it had been left to the people's vote to reopen it, methinks Gabriel's trump would blow first. Thanks to two of our Representatives who so ably and firmly opposed the bill.

We are considerably puzzled and anxious to know how and why our Senate and House did not shut down on those fraudulent bends themselves instead of shifting the responsibility off on a "Court of Claims" composed of three Judges. If we mistake not an appropriation was made during the extra session last year to pay the interest on these doubtful bonds, before anything positive was known about them. How does that
